A department of vocational agriculture will be introduced into the High school course with the beginning of the next school term in September. The most of the session was occupied with this joint discussion relative to the addition. It is the plan of the board to obtain building plans and ideas of the best of architects available and select from these various estimates the plans which will best fill the requirements of the Maryville school building. Mr. Pampel is in the city today making further observations of the building and consulting with the members of the board.

Eric Shue of Parsons, Kan., an architect who has also submitted plans for the new addition, met with the board last night for farther discussion of the specifications and plans which he made the board several weeks ago.

BUSINESS MEN TO FIGHT HIGH COST

LAUNCHED AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

4,000 ATTEND MEETING

E. C. Curfman, Representative of Local Organization, Unable to Go to Convention.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 27.—A business men's war on the high cost of living was launched here yesterday at the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Opening its four-day meeting in the Hotel Traymore with a business session this morning, the organization stands pledged for a campaign of increased production.

Four thousand of the nation's leading business men are gathered here to devise means of fighting excessive costs and prices and will base their campaign against the H. C. of L. on increased production. Pre-convention discussions developed the fact that business looks upon unsettled price conditions as a certainty for many months to come, or until the supply surpasses the demand in domestic trade.

One-half-day's session, it was announced, will be devoted exclusively to the discussion of agricultural production. Secretary of Agriculture Edwin T. Meredith will be the principal speaker. J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau, will present the farmers' side of the problem.

Other subjects to be discussed include the transportation problem, the Government's policy toward anti-trust laws and taxation, international finance and world production, labor and immigration.

Transportation's part in the field of production will be given special consideration. The part played by railroads, the highways, trucks, inland waterways and the new merchant marine will be thoroughly discussed. The convention will determine means of increasing the effectiveness of each of these means of transportation.

Leaders of the nation's business world have gone on record that international exchange is one of the most vital problems affecting world trade today and this subject will be taken under discussion.

American business, represented by the increased production convention, will be called upon to pass on a report prepared by a national committee of bankers, recommending corrective measures for the exchange situation. Should the convention adopt this report it will have far-reaching effects on the money market.

The convention will also act on an invitation from European bankers to participate in a world conference intended to straighten out the international exchange tangle. This conference is scheduled for June and probably will be attended by delegates representing the national Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary of Commerce Joshua W. Alexander and former Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel C. Roper will be among the prominent speakers addressing the convention.

Holland is a popular designation for the Kingdom of Netherlands, derived from the provinces of North and South Holland, formerly constituting a feudal countship allied to the Holy Roman German Empire.

THREE ST. JOE H. S. TEAMS TO COMPETE AT FIELD MEET

Creditable Material From Benton, Central and Lafayette to Enter Association Contests.

St. Joseph will have three of its high schools competing against each other, as well as a number of other schools, at Maryville Saturday, in the third annual track and field meet there. Central, Benton and Lafayette will have teams in the meet. While Central should lead the other two local schools in point winning, the team will have to travel in order to beat out Trenton and Bosworth, the aggregations that finished ahead of them in the Liberty meet Saturday.

Central will send a larger team to Maryville than the one that represented the school in the Liberty meet, and the Benton team is also expected to be larger, although Pickard and Drake can be depended on to point for the South Side school. Lafayette has not yet entered its team in a meet this season, but may have some creditable material at work that will show enough class to place in the Maryville meet.

All three local schools will send delegations to the meet. A number will leave here Friday to attend the literary contests Friday night, in which Central has entered several.—St. Joseph NewsPress.

DECLARES PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM FACES A CRISES

U. S. Commissioner of Education Says Messenger Boys Receive More Money Than Some Teachers.

Columbus, Ohio, April 26.—This nation's public school system is facing a crisis.

This crisis cannot be relieved until teachers receive higher pay, accord ing to P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, address ing the local chamber of commerce forum.

Claxton contrasted messenger boys making $900 annually with Kentucky school teachers receiving from $500 to $1,000 a year.

Only four out of every 1,000 teachers in 370 cities receive $1,600 a year or more, according to a survey, said Claxton. He said that 20,000 public schools in this country were closed during deniary, due to shortage in teachers, that 40,000 schools were closed last October, due to the same cause; that 25,000 schools are being presided over by teachers who have not measured up to the minimum standard set by their respective States, and that 300,000 teachers have fallen below all reasonable standards.

Silk Underwear and Stockings Taboo in Howell County.

West Plains has claimed for years the distinction of being the best dressed town of its size in Missouri, and now the men and women of West Plains have declared in favor of simplicity and shabbiness—if necessary—in order to deal a deadly blow at the prevailing high price of clothes.

April 17th a mass meeting in the First Presbyterian Church was held for the purpose of securing five hundred signatures to the following pledge:—

"We pledge ourselves to refrain from buying wearing apparel except what is absolutely necessary until September 1st. We condemn the use of silk underwear and silk stockings and further pledge ourselves to refrain from their purchase."

The leader in this movement was Mrs. Lee M. Cantron, Chairman for Howell County of the Women's High Cost of Living Campaign.

CHURCHES CONSOLIDATE; ERECT HANDSOME BUILDING

By consolidating their congregations, the three churches believe they will be able to do much more effective religious work in the community.

The building is expected to be completed at an early date.

India is the one country which produces palm sugar called "jaggery." It is obtained from a species of palm trees. The sweet juice flows from the top shoot of the tree when it is wounded.

Man works from sun to sun

And the problem of farm work is to have machines that make it possible to do the most work in the least time.

One of the most important parts of farming is HOUSEKEEPING—and anything that aids in doing the work quicker and easier is an aid to farming.

THE MAYTAG MULTI-MOTOR WASHER is the best housework help we have ever seen. It is built exactly like the Electric Maytag, except that it has a little gasoline motor instead of the electric motor.

It is a strong, well built, easily operated washer that does the best kind of work, handles large, heavy pices as well as fine clothes and keeps the water boiling hot for several washers full. It has swinging, reversible wringer and is a most desirable machine for the farm housekeeper.

Call and see the Maytag.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Action of the North Carolina Democratic State Convention in declaring for equal suffrage and calling upon the legislature of that state, soon to be convened, to ratify the federal constitutional amendment, probably makes such action by the legislature certain. North Carolina, a rick-ribbed Democratic state, will thus probably be the thirty-sixth state to ratify. By this action, the Democratic party will be directly responsible for placing the ballot in the hands of the women for the 1920 national election.

The Republican Congress now proposes to investigate the Federal Reserve Board, which is about like investigating the Rock of Gibraltar to see if it is solid. Not even the system that enabled the country to finance the greatest war of all time without a financial tremor is to escape the activities of the "investigating" Congress. However, such an investigation will serve to give the Congress another pretext for killing time and for not doing those things it should do.

Senator LaFollette, of unsavory war record, has effected a complete "come back" in the "G. O. P." His ticket swept Wisconsin in the recent Republican primary. Holding the delegation from his state to the National Convention in the hollow of his hand, he will be much courted at Chicago, just as he was by his party leaders in the Senate when it was found that his vote was needed to organize the Senate and pack the Foreign Relations Committee against the peace treaty.

Lew Dockstader, the celebrated minstrel, in a recent humorous political monologue in a Washington theater, nominated Senator Henry Cabot Lodge for President on a "He-kept-us-out-of-peace" platform. The suggestion is commended to the Republican National Convention.

"Drag Illinois in Mud—Politicians Methods Disgust Clean Men in Both Parties" runs the headline of a news story in a Republican newspaper on the eve of the Republican primary in that state. Reads as if it had been resurrected from the files of 1912.

Dr. Lodge's quack prescription calling for a separate peace with Germany will not suit the body of the American public. But this isn't his first reversal, for he once declared there should be no separate peace.

As the Orient refuses to come to Washington, a lot of Congressmen will go to the Orient without any warrant except one on the Treasury says the Washington Post.

With the Government paying most of the freight, the demand for tickets for the Congressional "joy ride" to the Orient exceeds the supply.

The G. O. P. Congress has investigated everything but the cost of its own investigations.

Sweden is said to be wonderfully prosperous. An indication of this is the growth of postal savings which increased by nearly $3,000,000 last year.

MISSOURI'S OLDEST HOUSE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Platte City, Mo., April 26.—The oldest house in Platte City and one of the oldest in the State, was destroyed by fire the other morning.

The house, of the old colonial type and the family home of United States District Attorney Francis M. Wilson, was built in 1837 by Elijah H. Morton, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and one of the framers of the Constitution of Missouri.

THE GIANT SHIPYARDS AT HOG ISLAND, PHILADELPHIA, ARE CONVINCING EVIDENCE OF "DIAMOND CONSTRUCTION FOR STRENGTH."

An Automobile Starting Battery Guaranteed for Two Years!

A GUARANTEE is the measure of a manufacturer's faith in his battery—based on past performance. If he guarantees his battery for only ninety days or six months or a year, he is probably sure that it will last that long. But beyond the period of the guarantee he is asking you to take a risk which he is not willing to take himself. It is unbusinesslike for you to take such a risk when you can buy a Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery that is guaranteed for TWO YEARS.

The Diamond Grid is the framework on which each of the plates is formed. Its Diamond Construction is similar to the Diamond Construction used on the ways and cranes at Hog Island and in most other strong structures. In your battery the Diamond Grid means strong plates and is your insurance against plate trouble.

The Philco Retainer is a sheet of hard rubber closely perforated with long narrow slots. A Retainer is placed flat against the active material on each side of each positive plate. In any battery the positive active material tends to slough off as the battery grows older. The slots in the Philco Retainer are so narrow that the material cannot readily pass through them and the result is greatly prolonged battery life.

FEDERAL RESERVE ACT STANDS TEST

SAVES UNITED STATES FROM BANKRUPTCY DURING WAR.

FINANCES ESTABLISHED

Credit and Money Would Have Been Exhausted During First Six Months—Is Now Secure.

Washington, D. C., April 27—That the first six months of the war would have bankrupted the United States in credit and money had it not been for the financial policy inaugurated under the Federal Reserve act and supplementary legislation, is asserted by Senator King, of Utah.

Replying to incidental criticism of the currency law by Senator McCumber during a Senate debate, Senator King showed that one of the first things attempted by the Democratic party when it came into power was the enactment of currency legislation which had been lacking under Republican leadership. The Federal Reserve act, he said, had stood the test of both peace and war, and the country's finances are now established as they never have been in history.

"Has the Senator advocated its repeal or modification?" asked Senator King. "I do not recall that he or any other Republican has seriously attacked the Federal Reserve act or has offered amendments of a vital or important character to that great and constructive measure. I have wondered what would have been the result if the Federal Reserve act had not been upon the statute books and if we had had on the statute books only the financial legislation that we found there when the Democratic party came into power under the first administration of Woodrow Wilson.

"Why, if it had not been for the financial policies the Democratic party which have been crystalized into law under the splendid leadership of Woodrow Wilson, our country would have been bankrupt, so far as credit and money were concerned, within the first six months of the war."

Senator King reviewed the history of financial legislation, the inadequacy of the temporary measure known as the Aldrich-Vreeland bill and the failure of the Senate under the leadership of Senator Aldrich to enact comprehensive currency legislation that would meet every condition. Continuing, he said:

"Commissions were created from time to time by the Republican party to consider financial legislation and they had utterly failed to function. * * * The Republican party had been in power for many years, and its statesmanship had been so bankrupt that it could not and did not devise a fiscal policy that could ride the storms of a little financial flurry in 1907 and 1908, when the Republican party was in power. The Republican party was in power when the devastating financial storm of 1873 to 1877 swept the nation. The Senate will remember that in 1873, when the Republicans were in power, when practically all the financial legislation on the statute books was Republican and with the limited number of industries that were then in the United States, there were more than seven thousand failures, and in 1877 under Republican legislation there were more than ten thousand failures in the United States.

"The Senator who referred to the present law, if he will reflect a moment, must confess the fact to be that the financial legislation placed upon the books by the Republican party was an anachronism. It did not rise to the demands of modern civilization and of business and a progressive industrial nation such as this. I challenge the Senator from North Dakota to offer a plank for the Republican platform which is to be so varied in form and variegated in color and design, which is now being framed by Mr. Hays and his 171 varieties, asking for the repeal of the Federal Reserve act. I should like to see that issue presented to the American people, but no Senator would dare offer a measure for the repeal of that act, which carried us through the Great War and has met every test since the day of its enactment."

ANIMAL LIFE AND CLIMATE

Abundant Proof That Extremes of Temperature Do Not Preclude Possibility of Existence.

The contention of Dr. Abbott of the Smithsonian astrophysical observatory that because of the cold climate of Mars life could not exist upon that planet is not convincing.

Polar bears rejoice in temperatures so low that little vegetation at any time of the year exists in the latitudes in which they are found. The existence of tigers in Korea, which has a New England climate, supposedly changed by sea currents when the country's fauna was tropical, shows how animals common to the hottest parts of the earth adapt themselves to climate as cold by comparison with the tropics as the climate of Mars is by comparison with the regions in which the Eskimos live. Monkeys from Africa died so fast of tuberculoses in heated houses that the mortality rate forced an experiment, as the result of which African monkeys are living out of doors all the year in one of Chicago's parks.

If life as we know it, human, animal or vegetable, could not withstand the climate of Mars, might not life adapted to the climate flourish? The fabulous salamander lived in fire. An Eskimo, newly arrived in Moscut or Bagdad, could believe that since men could live in such places reptiles easily might bask upon live coals and frolic in flames. Why might not life, adapted thereto, exist in a temperature of 300 degrees above or below zero if a man from the polar regions can become acclimated in the tropics, or vice versa?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TAKE HIGH OFFICE MARCH 4

That Day Officially Set for Inauguration of the President of the United States.

President Washington was inaugurated for his second term, beginning March 4, 1792, and all the other presidents, except four, who were inaugurated March 5, because the 4th fell on Sunday.

The four exceptions were Presidents Monroe, second term, 1821; Taylor, 1849; Hayes, 1877; and President Wilson's second term, 1917. President Hayes took the oath March 3, 1877, and was formally inaugurated on the following Monday. President Wilson took the oath for his second term on Sunday, March 4. The usual inauguration parade took place the next day.

The question as to whether, in the event of March 4 falling on Sunday at the beginning of a term, there being an interregnum of one full day in the office, was first brought by John Quincy Adams when he was secretary of state. He applied for a dictum of the Supreme court to guide the manner of inaugurating President Monroe for his second term. The opinion of Chief Justice Marshall does not prohibit the president from taking the oath and entering his duties immediately after midnight of March 3, even if March 4 falls on Sunday.

Rare Biblical Collection.

An interesting collection of Bibles, some of which are rare books, others of which are valuable on account of their former possessors or donors, is installed in the Mount Holyoke college library. In one group are found the ancient versions of the Scriptures; the original Hebrew and Greek, including a miniature copy of the scroll of the law, called the Sefer Torah, the ancient Syriac, the Septuagint and the Latin Vulgate.

Among the four editions of the Latin Vulgate is one bearing the date 1568, with Luther's portrait stamped on the leather cover with a Latin inscription, of which the translation is, "If you wish to see the face of Luther behold the portrait; if you would know his mind, consider the book."

"Insult to Injury."

Little do we realize when we use this expression that we are indulging in a bit of wisdom. Unknowingly we are alluding to the classic of the classic, an old Latin fable quoted by Phaedrus from the more ancient version of Aesop. It is a fable about a baldheaded man, and as usual the baldheaded man is at a disadvantage. In this case it is a mere fly that takes advantage of him. Well, the baldheaded man was bitten on the head by a fly and when he attempted in retaliation to smite the insect he succeeded only in giving himself a vigorous slap on his bald pate. Whereupon, according to Aesop, the fly said jeeringly: "You want to kill me for a touch—what will you do to yourself now that you have added insult to injury?"

Our First Person Singular.

Is not English the only great language in which the pronoun of the first person singular is capitalized? How monumentally imposing is that upper case "I"! If a writer is egotistic the capitals stretch across his page like a colonnade. When he writes "we" he descends to the lower case. But this orthographic solipsism, mark you, is shared by Americans, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders—all who use the English tongue. It is therefore not to be set down to insularity, but to individualism—a stark, ineradicable, valuable quality of these various folks whose thoughts and feelings have been nourished by the same language.—Henry Van Dyke in Scribner's Magazine.

DEER "CHUMS" WITH COWS AND SHEEP

Eight Point Buck Can Be Seen Grazing on Farm in New York.

Many are the interesting idiosyncrasies of wild life met with by the Conservation Commission's field force as a result of the many hours spent in the open. Unusual or noteworthy occurrences are thus constantly being brought to the attention of the commission. An oddity of this kind which was of particular interest was recently reported by D. W. Rose, a game protector of Richfield Springs, Otsego county, who told of a handsome eight point buck that could be seen almost any day grazing in company with cows and sheep on a certain farm in his territory.

Accounts are not uncommon of deer which in the stress of winter have entered barn yards and there satisfied the pangs of hunger. But a deer which in summer when food is abundant, has so far departed from its natural instincts of seclusion and self obliteration as to "chum up" with farm animals and graze in an open pasture was surely worthy of record.

The services of the camera man were therefore requisitioned, and both still pictures and movies of the unusual deer were secured. The star actor behaved beautifully, from a photographer's standpoint—was found just where he was looked for, had no objection to the brightest sunlight, and went through all his paces in the most approved manner.

Of course, being a wild deer, he had to be approached with the utmost caution. Every photograph of him that was obtained shows his head raised in instinctive suspicion, while his lethargic companions are unconcernedly munching the grass. The best picture of him was made by stalking up behind a feeding cow and waiting, with camera all set, until the cow grazed out of range, when a snap shot of the deer and some of his associates was secured before he realized that a stranger was in their midst.

The most natural explanation of the unusual behavior of this buck is that being unable to find the companionship of his own kind, he took the best substitute in the only other "big game" that was available.

"BARBARY COAST" TAME

Notorious San Francisco Region Is Now Quiet.

Those who may come to S. a Francisco at the time of the Democratic convention the latter part of June with the idea of experiencing a thrill by visiting the "Barbary Coast" will be disappointed.

Many of the resorts, celebrated in story and verse, where cheap boarding house operators, commonly known as "crimps," freely plied their trade of shanghaiing sailors for unscrupulous sea captains, are permanently closed.

Others have but the name of the places that once flamed with color, music and revelry.

Long before national prohibition was generally considered a possibility, "Barbary Coast," a section of Pacific street extending back from the bay front a half dozen blocks to where Chinatown touches the Italian district, had been rendered innocuous by the prohibition of the sale of liquor in the long row of dance halls there.

The main artery from this district to Market street, San Francisco's principal thoroughfare, is Kearney street, where once, it is declared, within an hour enough reckless spirits could be picked up to start almost any sort of desperate enterprise.

Now Kearney is one of the quietest and most respectable business streets.

LONG WALK TO WED

Youth and Sweetheart Trudge 100 Miles for Ceremony.

Roy Greenwood, nineteen years old, and Malinda Strange, who says she is eighteen years of age but looks sixteen years old, walked 100 miles from Flora, Ill., to East St. Louis to be married, but their plans went wrong.

J. K. Ewing, humane officer, saw the youthful couple sitting on a railroad track in the yards in East St. Louis and took them into custody. The two were eating pie. They had 80 cents between them. The girl told Ewing her father died when she was a baby and her mother about three years ago. For a while, she said, she lived at the Soldiers' Orphan home at Bloomington, Ill., then went to live with her brother in Flora.

"I love Roy," she declared, "and I want to marry him."

The humane officer said he would get new clothes for the girl and obtain work for her.

HUGE LAWSUITS SETTLED

London Prize Court Disposes of 1,500 Actions Involving $20,000,000.

In a short time in the prize court at London 1,500 lawsuits, involving a sum amounting to about $20,000,000, were disposed of by Justice Duke. They related to outstanding claims between the British government and Swedish subjects, 50 per cent, comprising South American consignments of coffee seized on 200 steamers.

Half the expense of the costs incurred and half the net proceeds are divided between the British and Swedish parties.

WHAT DOING GOOD WORK.

"I have been bad off with stomach and liver trouble and bloating for many years. No doctors or medicine helped me. On the advice of my druggist, I bought a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I don't want to miss a single dose. It has given me more benefit than all the medicine I have ever taken. I feel I am doing good to recommend it to others." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
